

An aerial photograph of a winding asphalt road that curves through a dense forest. The trees are in various stages of autumn, with some showing vibrant orange and red foliage, while others remain green. A small dark car is visible on the road, and a white line marks the edge of the pavement. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, looking down on the landscape.

BOOKS DO NOT ONLY WHISK US AWAY to fictional worlds – they also lead us to real places full of history and significance. This travel book gathers the most fascinating destinations for all those who love discovering literature whilst travelling. At Trinity College in Dublin, centuries-old volumes preserve their knowledge; in the Bibliothèque Sainte-Geneviève in Paris, there is that concentrated silence in which great thinkers once worked. Extraordinary bookshops invite you to browse – from Shakespeare and Company on the banks of the Seine to the magnificent El Ateneo in Buenos Aires. The book leads to writers' homes and literary cafés where literary history comes alive: to Hemingway's workspace in Key West, Jane Austen's writing room, or Viennese coffee houses. An inspiring book for everyone who loves travelling and reading – and who wants to feel the magic that is created when both come together.

MADE WITH LOVE

- Trend topic: combining the DIY boom and authentic travel
- Discover the birthplaces of European craft traditions

It is an inspiring work for everyone who likes to get hands-on whilst on holiday, for creative minds with a spirit of discovery, and for all those who love beautiful things. After all, who doesn't love strolling through the colourful ceramic markets on the Amalfi Coast or enjoying sweet macarons in Paris? On chilly days, you can cosy up in your Icelandic jumper, and whilst shopping, you can take delight in your handwoven basket. Many of these treasures have their roots in European regions that this book rediscovers.

MONUMENTS OF NATURE

- Alpine panoramas ranging from the iconic to the surprisingly unspoilt
- Ideal as an inspiring gift book for nature and mountain lovers

THE ALPS ARE MORE than a mountain range – they are a living space, a source of strength and one of Europe's most impressive landscapes. This illustrated book shows the Alps in all their diversity: rugged peaks and wide valleys, quiet alpine meadows, dramatic weather moods and light-filled moments. Large-format photographs capture the archaic beauty of the mountains just as much as their subtle, quiet details. The result is a visual portrait that does not explain the Alps, but makes them something to be experienced – powerful, timeless and full of respect for nature.

FEEL ROOTED AND ALIVE: This book tells of places and cultures that make inner strength visible: from Maori rituals that unite courage and community, to the primal force of Iceland's volcanoes, all the way to yoga practices in India. It is not only about physical energy, but also about mental resilience. Short exercises help you rediscover your own resources. Leafing through this book, you find your sources of strength – and learn how to use them in everyday life.

BEYOND THE HORIZON: This book leads to places that inspire us to push our boundaries – from the pilgrimage route to Santiago de Compostela, to the rugged cliffs of Ireland, and the exploration of the Amazon rainforest. Yet courage is found not only in great adventures, but also in small decisions: a truthful word, a new step, a conscious risk. Concepts for reflection show how courage can grow. Each page invites you to stretch your comfort zone – gently, encouragingly, inspiring.

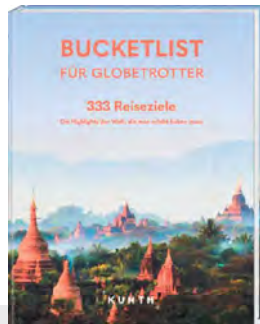

PEACE BEGINS WHERE THE PACE SLOWS DOWN: sometimes it's a Zen garden in Kyoto, sometimes a Norwegian fjord in the morning light, sometimes just a deep breath. This book collects places and rituals of slowing down, from monastery silence to the Japanese tea ceremony. Between the chapters, short breaks invite you to create your own retreats: a cup of hot chocolate, a walk, a moment without your mobile phone. Peace thus becomes not only the destination of a journey, but an attitude for everyday life.

TIME TRAVELS THROUGH EUROPE –

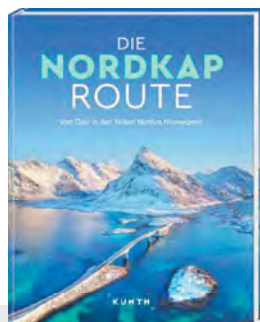

This book offers fascinating insights into times gone by. Real dinosaur tracks can be discovered along the Jurassic Coast. Viking settlements and ancient temples tell tales of brave seafarers and early civilisations. Baroque palaces invite travellers to stroll through the splendour of past centuries. Futuristic museums and theatres build a bridge to the present day. Special feature pages provide background information on myths and legends, famous figures, and historical facts. A must-read for history enthusiasts!

THAT ONE MOMENT – This photo book captures the world's most fascinating places at the very moment they reveal their full beauty. From the Great Migration in East Africa, where millions of gnu move across the savannah, to the spectacular Manhattanhenge in New York, when the sun sets perfectly between the city's street canyons, to the migration of monarch butterflies in Mexico or the vibrant colours of India's Holi Festival. Breathtaking photographs and accompanying texts capture these once-in-a-lifetime moments. A visual journey – or inspiration for your next trip, complete with a practical guide to ensure you never miss a moment.

TREND TOPIC – SET-JETTING: This inspiring book takes readers to the iconic locations of the most popular TV series and invites them to experience their favourite worlds up close. From the sweeping landscapes of the Scottish Highlands featured in Outlander, to the chic streets of Paris from Emily in Paris, and the dramatic backdrops of Yellowstone. The idyllic charm of Mayfair from Bridgerton is also included. With stunning photography and fascinating background stories about the filming locations, the magic of the series world is brought to life. This book is a treasure trove of ideas for anyone wanting to step into their favourite series on their next journey.

ITS NOT JUST THE LOCATION that makes it so captivating – the dramatic solstices and dancing Northern Lights also cast their spell over visitors. This “end of the world” feels especially awe-inspiring when it marks the final destination of a journey through all of Norway. That’s what »The North Cape Route« is about: travelling from Oslo, across southern Norway to the coast, and then all the way up to the far north. Along the way, you’ll encounter vibrant cities, charming fishing villages, and of course, the majestic fjords. Stunning photographs bring it all to life – and with maps and practical information, it’s a valuable companion for planning the dream trip.

ALL UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITES in one compact volume. A convention established in 1972 to protect the world’s cultural and natural heritage laid the foundation for a unique and internationally coordinated effort to safeguard assets of universal value. Since then, each year, a number of outstanding cultural treasures and natural phenomena have been added to UNESCO’s World Heritage List. In light of the threats facing many ecosystems and the potential loss of cultural landmarks, this comprehensive volume powerfully illustrates why these places deserve special protection.

THE TRANSIENT BEAUTY OF ARCTIC ICE: This impressive book tells the story of the life cycle of ice in epic photo series – from its formation deep within Greenland to its radiant dissolution beneath Arctic sunsets at sea. The spectacular photographs capture towering glaciers, deep-blue meltwater lakes, calving icebergs, and delicate crystal formations with moving clarity. Like a silent breath, the thought “Only what is temporary can truly be beautiful” runs through the work – visually stunning, poetic, and hauntingly beautiful. The closing epilogue powerfully reveals the dramatic impact of climate change.

A "WORK OF ART" WITHIN THE VASTNESS OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM: Earth is an inexhaustible treasure trove of colours and shapes. Its beauty and its incredible wealth of natural phenomena and fascinating landscapes could fill entire libraries. This illustrated book shows a selection of the most attractive secrets of our world, highlighting our planet's fantastic resourcefulness. A trip around the world that will awaken longings and at the same time satisfy your wanderlust.

SEEMINGLY ENDLESS SUNFLOWER FIELDS, a sea of mountain peaks and spectacular desert panoramas, a lonely cliff facing the endless expanse of the sea – nature's joy of creation knows only one apparent limit in its landscapes: the horizon. This book whisks you away to natural spaces with its awesome and meditative panoramic images which allow your gaze to wander into the distance and which will awaken in you the desire to travel the whole wide world.

THE WILD ATLANTIC – its fascination lies in the contrasts it unifies: rugged beauty and untamed wilderness, often-deserted beaches and impressive cliffs, primordial waves and tranquil shores. Minke whales frolic in the Norwegian Sea; on Iceland's south coast the beach is blackened by lava; Europe's largest sand dune towers near France's Arcachon Bay; and giant waves lure surfers to the Portuguese resort of Nazaré. With magnificent pictures, this illustrated book opens up unexpected perspectives on this mythical ocean.
